NO INTEREST AND LIGHT VOTE IN OHIO PRIMARIES; BOND ISSUES TURNED DOWN

Columbus Votes For Daylight Saving Plan

COLUMBUS, O., August 10.—Lack of interest and a resultant light vote characterized yesterday's municipal primary elections in practically every city in the state.

The small number of voters who went to the polls, was estimated in some places to have brought the cost of counting and tabulating each vote to anywhere between $7 and $15.

Few important questions were before the voters, bond issues, and several other minor propositions being the only ones voted on besides the choice of candidates for several city offices.

Proposed bond issues apparently met with little favor throughout the state. At Cincinnati, a proposal to spend $4,500,000 for canal boulevard construction was among the larger proposals refused by large majorities.

A $5,000,000 issue at Akron for completion of a sewerage system, however, was passed by a small majority.

At Youngstown a charter form of government was turned down by a large majority, while Fred Warnock, present incumbent, was nominated for mayor in the Republican primaries.

After a bitter fight in which several administration officials were indicted for alleged fraud and bribery.

Mayor H. A. Atterton, of Newark, against whom charges have been filed by a group of citizens, was nominated for a third term on the Democratic ticket.

Columbus voters expressed approval of daylight savings now in effect and approved the present Mary Ann system of nominations.

After a hot campaign in Dayton, three Socialists were nominated for city commissioners their names going on the ticket with two Republicans and one Democrat.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS
WINS IN COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS.—The Mary Ann, or preferential ballot system, and daylight savings time during the summer, were retained for Columbus by voters in yesterday's primaries. Final returns today showed.

One of five charter changes voted upon passed, that to allow 20 instead of ten days for publication of city ordinances before their adoption. Six candidates for council were nominated. Fewer than 10,000 persons voted. The approximate number of Columbus voters is 100,000.

BOND ISSUE BEATEN IN CINCINNATI.—The proposed $4,500,000 canal boulevard bond issue, was defeated at the primary election yesterday by a vote of almost two to one.

The official tabulation showed that there were 12,961 votes for the proposition and 23,775 against it. John Galvin, incumbent, had no opposition on the Republican ticket for nomination for mayor and Dr. Charles L. Bonfield, Democratic candidate for council, were likewise was unopposed.

CITY MANAGER FORM WINS
CLEVELAND.—City manager form of government won in Cleveland Heights municipal election yesterday by a vote almost of ten to one in a small vote in which figures were 650.

Ohio Vote In Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Ohio voting showed the following:

1. Campaigns based on crusades by law enforcement and civic bodies, aimed at officials and replete with charges of misconduct, such as tax performance of duties failed in a majority of cases.

2. With few exceptions the light vote cast enabled the regular partisan organizations to control the result of the balloting.

3. Women, now armed with the ballot and entitled to seek office, took little part in the contests, the nominees among the feminine sex being few and the influence of women's clubs in civic affairs being slight except in isolated instances, such as Springfield and Oxford.

4. Wide diversity of opinion regarding the adoption or repudiation of charters involving advanced ideas in form of government, such as commission rule, the "Mary Ann" (preferential) ballot, the managership system and similar forms.

5. The reappearance, although in a limited degree, of the Socialist party which was crushed in 1919 during a wave of anti-radical sentiment, as a factor in municipal contests.

6. General disinclination on the part of taxpayers, now burdened by increased levies and threatened by additional assessments, to authorize extensive borrowing, by means of bond issues, for schools, streets and other projects, many of which were advocated as means of relieving unemployment.

PLAN APPROVED
COLUMBUS.—Re-establishment of the state bureau of markets, abolished under the reorganization plan of government in the state, was approved by Governor Davis and his cabinet.

Shopmen Of Pennsylvania To Strike To Enforce Board's Order

PHILADELPHIA, August 10.—Shopmen on the Pennsylvania railroad will not strike to force the company to comply with the order of the United States Railroad Labor Board to meet with their union employees and draw up a new schedule of working agreements.

The last threat of a strike disappeared today when H. S. Jeffery of this city, chairman of the advisory board of the shop craft unions of the Philadelphia-Camden district, announced today the unions would rely on American patriotism and public sentiment to force the road to obey the transportation act.

Up to early afternoon no word had come from the Pennsylvania Railroad officials as to their intentions in regard to the decision of the labor board ordering a new election of committees.

This time fixed by the board for the company and union representatives to meet to arrange details of the proposed election expires today. The Pennsylvania, however, is expected to make known its position some time today.

Mr. Jeffery, in a statement pointed to paragraph in the labor board's decision which provides that in the event either party believes the decision is not being complied with, a complaint should be filed with the board.

This was taken to mean the shopmen would make another appeal to the labor board in case the Pennsylvania railroad refused to receive from its position.

SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE KEPT IN THE DARK ABOUT U.S. DICKERINGS WITH BERLIN

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1921 By The Times Publishing Co.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California has been making inquiries of Senator Lodge, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, to determine what is going on between the United States government and the German government with respect to the establishment of peace.

Mr. Johnson is a member of the Senate foreign relations committee and as such feels that he is entitled to know what steps are being taken to make peace with Germany. He asked Mr. Lodge if it was true that a treaty was being negotiated with Germany. Mr. Lodge said he had not been advised by the executive branch of the government. Senator Johnson wanted to know if the German Reichstag Committee on foreign affairs had a copy of the proposals to be embodied in a peace treaty and again the Massachusetts Senator professed ignorance.

"What would we have said if all this had happened under the last administration," exclaimed Senator Johnson, as he points out that not a scintilla of information has been given the Senate foreign relations committee about the status of our negotiations or conversations with the German government about peace.

This fact has not been generally known. It has been supposed right along that President Harding and Secretary Hughes have been consulting the Senate.

That was the chief criticism leveled against the Wilson administration—a refusal to take cognizance of the Senate's function as a part of the treaty-making power.

Senator Lodge himself insisted that the Senate had a right to have its say in advance of the actual signing of a peace treaty and he circulated a round robin which was signed by practically all the Republican Senators expressing the Senate's views about a treaty which was then under negotiation.

In taking up the former subject the council decided unanimously to adopt an attitude of strict neutrality in the

PARLEY FOR RELEASE OF OTHER U. S. CITIZENS IS RESUMED

RIGA, Aug. 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—A guarantee that all Americans remaining in Russia will be given an opportunity to leave that country, if they desired, was offered today by Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet representative at a conference this afternoon with Walter F. Brown, European director of the American Relief Administration, over the question of American relief for famine stricken Russia.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Plans for American relief administration in Soviet Russia were discussed with President Harding today by Secretary Hoover.

After the conference Secretary Hoover said relief work would begin when American prisoners confined in Petrograd and Moscow were out of Russia and when other prisoners confined in the interior had been released from custody.

RIGA, August 10.—Preliminary negotiations between Director Brown and M. Litvinoff, were opened this afternoon notwithstanding the earlier indications that the two men would not meet, the American representative asking M. Litvinoff what the Soviet government's intentions were regarding the freeing of the other Americans in Russia. The conferees were introduced by the Latvian premier.

RIGA, Latvia, August 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—Soviet Russia has released six of the American prisoners, who have arrived at Narva, Estonia, the fact that only this half dozen of Americans were sent out of the country was said here today to threaten a long delay in and perhaps the abandonment of the negotiations for American famine relief for Russia.

Repeal of the higher income surtaxes, retroactive to last January 1, $80,000,000. Repeal of the so-called nuisance and clothing luxury taxes, $50,000,000.

The committee majority also agreed to, increase the normal income tax on corporations from 12 percent, making a total of 15 percent instead of 12 percent, as suggested at the white house tax conference last night. A $2,000 exemption on corporation income was understood to have been retained.

While agreeing to repeal of all the freight and passenger taxes, committee members decided to retain the tax on pullman accommodations and express shipments. Representative Bacharach of New Jersey was understood to have proposed the exemption on individual incomes be increased $500 for both single and married men, or that the tax rate on incomes below $5,000 be reduced from four percent to 3 percent. Action was deferred.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—President Harding having intervened to straighten out tax revision differences between the House of Representatives and Treasury officials, ways and means committee Republicans set to work today to draft a revenue bill to yield $1,075,000,000, or approximately $600,000,000 less than had been suggested by Secretary Mellon. This total was agreed upon last evening at a White House conference attended by the Treasury Secretary, Speaker Gillett, Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader, Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee, and other prominent House Republicans.

At the same time decision was reached, it was stated officially, to cut $520,000,000 from estimated expenditures for this fiscal year, leaving the

GOVERNOR SMALL SEEKS A CHANGE OF VENUE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., August 10.—State's Attorney Mortimer today proposed conditions under which he will agree to grant Governor Small a change of venue outside of Sangamon county for a trial on charges of embezzlement of state funds, for which the governor was arrested by Sheriff Mester yesterday.

The State's Attorney's propositions were:

That the governor's counsel file a petition for a change of venue and confer with Mortimer in an effort to reach an agreement on some county acceptable to both the prosecution and the defense.

That both sides agree to a speedy trial.

The State's Attorney offered the propositions after making a long statement in which he extolled the citizenship of Sangamon County, where he said the governor could obtain an impartial trial regardless of claims to the contrary. Mr. Mortimer also paid a high tribute to the men who constituted the grand jury which indicted Governor Small and his co-defendants.

Mr. Mortimer conferred with Attorney General Brundage immediately after the latter's arrival in Springfield shortly before midnight last night, and the proposal for a change of venue for the governor's trial was acceptable to the attorney general, it was said.

In making his proposition the states attorney, it was believed, was a step visions of a holdup instantly flashed over the autoist with the result that he turned on the "jules" and speeded away, making good his escape although the would-be highwayman fired several shots after the speeding car, one of which penetrated a rear fender.

Only Six Prisoners Freed

RIGA, August 10.—(By the Associated Press)—Six American prisoners in Russia have been released by the Soviet authorities and have arrived at Narva, Estonia, in fair condition. The six were Emmett Kilpatrick, Weston B. Estes, William Fitch, X. B. Kalmatiano, H. J. LaMare and Russell Pattinger.

The prisoners, released under the promise made by the Soviet authorities at the time he accepted from American relief organizations for famine suffering Russia, reached Narva last night. Of the released men Captain Emmett Kilpatrick, of Uniontown, Alabama, was captured while on duty with General Wrangel's forces in South Russia.

William Fitch and Dr. Weston B. Estes, of New York, are moving picture photographers who went to Russia and were imprisoned last year. Xenophon Blumenthal Kalmatiano, of Racine, Wisconsin, had been in Russian prisons for nearly three years. Henry J. LaMare is a New York man and Russell Pattinger's home is in San Francisco.

All Roads Will Lead To The Lucasville Fair

Big Crowd Attends Opening Day; Special Train Thursday; Fine Races Are Assured

Two thousand persons assisted in the opening of the Scioto County Fair, at Lucasville, Tuesday. The majority of these were farmers registering their stock and merchants arranging their displays. Wide exhibitors were making their displays as attractive as possible.

A Woman's Message to Women:

COSEPOLIS, WASH.
"Three years ago I was sick from a severe pain in my back, and was told nothing more could be done for me. I was a nervous sufferer from indigestion, ulceration and weakness, and was dragged around for two years. Then I used your medicine, and at the end of two months I was perfectly healed and have never been troubled since. I can't praise your medicine enough. I know it will help anyone else to get well, and I know it will if they use it right."

I was a nervous sufferer from indigestion, ulceration and weakness, and was dragged around for two years. Then I used your medicine, and at the end of two months I was perfectly healed and have never been troubled since. I can't praise your medicine enough. numerous this year. The grounds are in excellent shape and with weather such as was in evidence yesterday, visitors will be assured of a most comfortable and pleasant stay. A large force of men was busy all day finishing the large parking grounds just south of the old grove, and with streets laid out and convenient turnstiles leading into the fair grounds proper, the new addition will prove a most welcome one to visitors who heretofore have been inconvenienced by the crowds at the gates. Parking space is available around the race track at a charge of fifty cents. Members of the boys' pig clubs and the girls' canning clubs were present on the fair grounds yesterday in large numbers and their various relics resounded through the spacious grove, each organization striving to down the others. The exhibits entered by these young Scioto county farmers are not only large but of excellent quality, and there will be stern competition between the various clubs and members. Fine prizes are offered by displays by the club members and they are working hard for high honors.

No races were scheduled for Tuesday but owners of fifty horses took advantage to try their wares on the track which is in fine shape. From the try-outs, some excellent racing may be looked for.

Wednesday saw all the features of the fair in full swing. The special features that the management went to great expense to secure were not disappointing. The auto polo stunts were performed on the race track and many stunts were pulled by the daring aviator.

The weather Tuesday was ideal for the fair, and Wednesday was the same. It is to be hoped that Thursday and Friday will receive the same consideration from the weather man. The weather is the only thing that can ruin the success of the fair the last two days, as the efficient board has arranged an interesting program to cover every moment.

Going After The Speeders

Violators of the traffic laws will not have a chance to make a speedy way out of the Scioto Trail while the Scioto county fair is in progress at Lucasville this week. Prosecuting Attorney George W. Sheppard has appointed special motorcycle policemen to patrol the road between Portsmouth and Lucasville, and these will report any violations of the law. Warrants will be issued immediately for all violations.

Much of the traffic between Portsmouth and the fair grounds will be buggies and teams of the farmers. These must be protected from speeding motorists, who have little or no regard for the rights of others.

In order that accidents on the road will be as few as possible, and danger to human life greatly lessened, the special police have been ordered to show no favoritism, and take no excuses.

Firm Has Fine Display

J. F. Taylor who ordinarily is to be found looking after the interests of the Universal Motor Co., at the corner of Ninth and Chillicothe streets is to be found there this week only when darkness cuts off his activities at the Scioto County Fair now in full blast. Mr. Taylor has always been thoroughly imbued with the "Fair Spirit" and this year finds him on the grounds as usual.

Mr. Taylor has secured a fine and complete line of Ford, Fordsons and Power Farming implements on display. A force of salesmen and mechanics are on hand to discuss and demonstrate the complete line and were kept busy all day Tuesday explaining the merits and mechanisms of the different machines and implements. The display shows Tractors, Trucks, Coupes, Sedans, Roadsters, Touring cars, Plows, Harrows, Cultivators and other implements and is creating a great deal of interest.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Anxious—It is entirely impossible for me to find the address of the young man. The question does not come under my line of work, and I have not the time to do the work of a detective agency. Many letters asking me to hunt people in other towns or foreign countries are not printed as there is not space to spare for them.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl not quite 16 years of age and am deeply in love with a boy just a bit younger. Now, Dolly, I know this boy used to love me for he used to come and see me every night, and he gave me his picture, but here of late he has met another girl he goes with her quite often. I told him if he was going with her he needn't expect to go with me. He said he wanted to go with both of us. So I quit him. Should I return his picture or should I keep it? I love him dearly and it is certainly hard to give him up. Heart-Broken, P. J. P.

It isn't necessary to return his picture, unless he wants it. You are too young to accept the attentions of a man, only. It would be a lot more fun to have several friends. He showed a generous spirit by wanting to call on both girls.

Wanted—Miss Dolly Wise—Am going to write for a little advice. Have been going with a fellow about two years. He seems to be jealous of me and his brother doesn't want him to go with me. He seems to care for me and always told me ever since he has been going with me he would marry me. I think he must be feeding me for if he cares for me he would have taken me long ago. I am 19 years old and he is 20. Do you think we are too young for married life? I am wanting to know. O. C. J.

You had better wait until you are a little older; your letter indicates you are not capable of the responsibility.

Dear Miss Wise—I am a young girl fifteen years old and have been in high school for one year. While school proceeded, I fell in love with a boy, with a fellow one year older than myself. Just before summer vacation we had a few hot words and have not spoken since. I feel as though we should speak and be friendly. Is it proper for me, or him to speak first? I am sure that we are both very eager to speak but are entirely too contrary. For any advice I would be very thankful to you.

LITTLE MISS CONTRARY T. A. T.
It is up to you to speak first, continue to be friendly and if he is interested he will show you some attention.

Dear Miss Wise—Please publish a recipe for corn relish in Wednesday's paper.

A. B. C.
Corn Relish—Chop one head of cabbage, sprinkle with salt and let stand one hour. Boil 12 ears of corn and cut from the cobs. To corn add 4 large onions, one large red pepper and chop all together; add cabbage and cover with dressing made of one and one-half quarts of vinegar, one tablespoon mustard, 2 tablespoons salt, one tablespoon celery seed, one cup sugar. Let all come to a boil, then add one teaspoon of flour. Cook a few minutes and put in jars.

Dear Miss Wise—I am coming to you for advice. I am deeply in love with a fellow of about my own age and I think that my love is returned. But now, Dolly, this boy used to come and see me two and three times a week. All of a sudden he quit coming so often, so I told him if he couldn't come as often I'd be his friend. But last night I went to church and was coming home with another fellow and met him coming after me. I just spoke and went on with the other fellow. Did I do right?

ANXIOUS.
Why did you tell him that he shouldn't come if you didn't mean it?

Nervous prostration, sleeplessness, headache, dizziness, and the inevitable weakness and ailments peculiar to their sex soon develop, which unless checked bring on more serious conditions, and which often lead to operations. An efficient restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is now recognized from coast to coast as a standard remedy for women's ills—advertisement.

CHERRY DINES OUT
Cherry sank gratefully into the comfortable chair that Mr. Hamlen drew up for her on the porch as soon as they had arrived. She was tired and her head ached from nervousness. Try as she would to curb her thoughts, they kept reverting to that empty auto of Ned's. There was some reason for it and yet there could scarcely be any good explanation. The night before had opened her eyes to so many things.

"Day-dreaming, my dear?" chirped Mrs. Hamlen in her ear, suddenly, as she sailed out to greet her guest. "No, not especially, just tired out," Cherry said quickly. "I drove pretty hard, and then I had very little sleep last night, as you know, Mrs. Hamlen."

"Yes, indeed, and our poor Arthur has been tired out all day, too. He's only just getting up. But I'm so glad that you all had a good time. Arthur told me it was a 'wonderful party.'"

SASH PLANT DAMAGED BY FIRE
CINCINNATI, O., August 10.—The plant of the Cincinnati Sash and Door Company at Sixth street and Freeman avenue, was damaged by fire early today to the extent of $50,000 to stock and equipment and $40,000 to the building. The flames communicated to the plant of the Ward, Brock Sash and Door Company which suffered an aggregate loss of $80,000 on stock and building. The plants were situated in a densely populated neighborhood and there was great excitement. The police are working on the theory that the fire was of incendiary origin. A man was seen trying the doors of the Cincinnati Sash and Door Company's plant shortly before the fire broke out.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Used by Expectant Mothers for Three Generations

ish girl she had been from the beginning.

"Thank you, Arthur, but I think I had better do it myself. Mother is most fussy about little things like this, and, besides, why should you do my 'phoning'?"

"Run along, dear, and we'll wait for you," said Mrs. Hamlen with a smile. "Just tell Mrs. Randall now that we've got you that we are going to keep you for a while, at least."

Cherry tripped to the telephone and called up her home. It was Mrs. Randall, herself, who answered.

"Well, I am relieved to hear you, Cherry. We've been waiting dinner for you. You won't be home till later! At the Hamlen's? Um. Ned is not here yet, either. My family seems to have been turned upside down by the party last night. Ned needn't call for you. I'll deliver your message to him as soon as he comes in. How is Arthur after the dance?" she finished with suspicion in her voice.

Cherry hung up the receiver with mixed feelings. She felt sure that her mother-in-law was planning to do a full amount of 'suspecting' in the future for reasons all her own.

"A Mother, the holiest thing alive."—Coleridge.

The expectant mother owes it not only to herself to prepare for an easier delivery, but to her child who should be stronger, healthier and more robust thru her care and intelligence.

What is one of the most important things a mother-to-be should do?

The universal answer from thousands of experienced mothers is this: The mother-to-be should massage the muscles and nerves involved in the function of child-bearing, daily, with an application of Mother's Friend. Because—

Three generations of mothers record the virtue of Mother's Friend for not only allaying distress in advance, but for assisting nature in assuring a speedy recovery for the mother.

So thoroughly has Mother's Friend proven its wonderful efficiency in thousands of cases, that any expectant mother who does not employ its use as directed deprives herself of a powerful agent for her relief and well-being, during the period of pending maternity, and of her prospects for an easier delivery when the eventful hour arrives.

The women who appreciate Mother's Friend the most, and who are loudest in their praise of it, are those who unfortunately did not use it with their first baby and who, thru its use with the second one, were able to fully realize the almost unbelievable relief it gave.

Mrs. Olive Vanden, 10 Grape St., Gallipolis, Ohio, says: "Before using Mother's Friend I suffered from Wednesday 'hill Sunday.' With my next child I used Mother's Friend and was sick only about three hours."

Many doctors and nurses recommend Mother's Friend. For external use—is perfectly harmless. Begin its use at once. Sold by all druggists.

The water tells the secrets of the skin

Artful applications of rouge and powder may lend your skin the appearance of smooth freshness—but what a cruel revelation at the bathing beach!

Yet the naturally fine complexion which sun and sea make only prettier is an attraction you can easily possess by giving your skin proper care. Instead of putting your skin to sleep with cold creams and cosmetics, wake it up with soap and water. Cleanse each tiny pore and skin cell, revive sluggish circulation. Get rid of the blackheads which are only accumulated dirt.

If you imagine your skin is too sensitive for the application of soap, it is because you have never tried Palmolive. You don't realize how mild it is, how the smooth, creamy lather, when massaged into the skin, cleanses without the slightest harshness.

Palm and olive oils

Palmolive contains palm and olive oils, discovered three thousand years ago in ancient Egypt. They were the cosmetic cleansers used by Cleopatra which kept her skin fresh and smooth. Today their scientific combination in Palmolive produces the most perfect of all facial cleansers. If we knew of ingredients finer, milder and more beneficial we would use them. But science has discovered nothing so good as palm and olive oils.

Mayor Collett Defeated For Renomination

IRONTON, O., August 10.—In the contest for the Democratic nomination for mayor in yesterday's primaries, Mayor Thomas Leroy Collett was defeated for renomination by Attorney Wayne L. Elkins, the latter being an easy winner.

The Democratic vote, as always in primary contests, was light, only about 228 votes being cast, but Elkins defeated Collett by a vote of 107 to 96. The result, while somewhat of a surprise to Mayor Collett and his friends, was not unexpected by the public generally.

Ex-Mayor Hannan Fails To Comeback

IRONTON, Aug. 10.—In marked contrast to the apparent lethargy in evidence at the polls in yesterday's primary election was the interest manifested last night when Earl Stewart and A. J. Hannan, Republican aspirants for the nomination for mayor, came down to the last two precincts neck and neck in an exciting finish which gave Stewart the nomination by a small plurality of 63.

With only precinct C of the Second ward unreported at the election board, rooms, Hannan had a lead of about 24 votes, but the heavy majority secured by Stewart in this last precinct was not only sufficient to cut down his opponent's slight lead, but put him under the wire a winner by a small but safe plurality.

CHILlicothe, Aug. 10.—Recognizing the truth of the old saying that "big oaks from little acorns grow," the Chillicothe Chamber of Commerce does not spare the "little acorns" in the matter of industries.

Feared He'd Be 'Scrapped' Like Old Machinery

"Before I got Taulie I was always the last one at our house to get to the table, and the first one to leave; but now I'm always the first one there and the last one to stop eating," was the characteristic statement made by A. B. Carter, a sheet metal worker, residing at 317 Chestnut St., Covington, Va.

"It seemed that my health broke down all at once, just like I've seen old pieces of machinery that have been used for years suddenly give way and have to be scrapped, and every day seemed to bring me closer to the time when I would have to be 'scrapped.' After eating, my stomach bloated with gas so bad it reminded me of the leather bellows I use at the shop, and everything I ate hurt me. I was bilious and yellow, and felt sluggish and heavy on my feet. I could hardly eat anything, and was too nervous to sit at the table until the others finished a meal.

"I knew what Taulie would do because of the way it had helped my brother, so I commenced taking it, and it has straightened me out, put new life and energy in me, and I'm back at work every day feeling better than I did even before my troubles began. The more people know about what Taulie has done for me the better pleased I'll be."—Advertisement.

take advantage of the purchase of war materials on account of the British blockade. He asked Ambassador Harvey if such was his understanding on the question, and the latter replied that this was fully in accord with the American viewpoint.

"This was the first time the American delegate had been called upon to express an opinion on the matter under discussion.

The council decided, that the allied governments cannot disinterested themselves in events in the near east, which are liable to cause a greater configuration. The council will appoint special missions to gather information on military and political matters in Asia Minor, and the French, British and Italian governments will exchange such data, especially that concerning supplying arms to the Turks by the Bolsheviks, which may not only be sent over land but also shipped across the Black Sea.

Tension over the Upper Silesian question, which was marked when the supreme allied council began its session here on Monday, appeared to be materially decreased when the council met today. Yesterday's frank exchange of ideas, and the agreement of France, Great Britain and Italy, in principle, to the frontier to be drawn between Poland and Germany through the Upper Silesian plebiscite area, appeared to have the situation, and there seemed every reason to believe that the remaining sessions of the council will be featured by the rapid disposition of questions which will come before it.

Governor

ahead of the governor, who was expected, through his counsel, to start an early fight to take the case out of Sangamon county, which he declared is the stronghold of his political enemies.

State's Attorney Mortimer declared that his proposition does not waive his rights to file an answer to the governor's petition for a change of venue, but added that under the conditions offered the change would be granted without opposition.

Governor Small submitted to arrest yesterday under protest at the executive mansion, after having been besieged at the state capital during the entire day by Sheriff Henry Mester and a force of deputies. From the executive mansion he was taken by the sheriff to the court house where bonds in the sum of $50,000 were approved. The final day of the maneuvering between Governor Small and Sheriff Mester proved to be the most exciting as well as the most dramatic of any since the Sangamon county grand jury returned indictments against Governor Small on July 20.

A note was attached by Governor Small to the bottom of the bonds in which he asserted they were given under protest.

Three indictments were returned against Governor Small in which he was charged with embezzling a half million dollars of state funds while state treasurer and conspiring to defraud the state of $2,000,000. Retention of interest on state funds was charged. Lieutenant Governor Sterling and Vernon Curtis president of the Grant Park Bank were also indicted. Sterling and Curtis furnished bond and were released the next day, but Governor Small's attorneys claimed that as the state's chief executive, he was immune from arrest.

The court ruled, however, that the governor was not above the law.

total at $4,034,000,000, as against the Treasury's estimate of $4,574,000,000. This would be accomplished if it was explained, by somewhat drastic slashes in estimates for the War, Navy and Agriculture Departments, the shipping board and railroad and the refunding of $10,000,000 of disbursements on account of the Public Debt.

Chairman Fordney said his committee probably could have the new revenue bill ready for consideration by a conference of house Republicans next Monday and leaders generally thought the measure probably could be passed by the house by August 20 permitting congress to recess on that date for a month. Under the program as now planned, the senate finance committee would work on the tax bill during the recess with a view to having it ready for senate action when congress reconvened. This would permit of final passage of the tax bill ahead of the permanent tariff measure, a program, it was explained, which the president desired to have carried out.

The great bulk of the taxes which it is proposed to repeal would come off as of last January 1, these being the excess profits tax, estimated at $450,000,000, and the income surtax bracketed above 32 per cent, which are estimated to yield $300,000,000. After this year the income tax would be reduced to 25 per cent, entailing a further revenue next year. Repeal of the other taxes proposed—one half of the transportation taxes and the so-called nuisance and luxury clothing taxes—would become effective next January 1 and would result in a total loss of $180,000,000 in revenue. It is the plan to cut off all of the transportation taxes on January 1, 1923. The proposed increase in the levy on the incomes of corporations also would be made retroactive to last January 1. The white house agreement was for an increase of 2 1/2 per cent, instead of five per cent, in this tax, making the total of 12 1/2 per cent, estimated to yield $125,000,000.

Light, former commander of the 148th infantry, Edward D. Cullen and Frank Miller received the nomination for vice mayor. The outstanding feature of the primary was the sweeping victory of Judge Brough who carried 16 of the 20 wards in the city and received as many votes as his three nearest competitors.

BLOW AT DAYTON REGIME

DAYTON—Defeat of the three citizens league candidates for nomination day primary was held today to be a blow at the present city administration. The citizens league has held control of the city government since the present commission charter was granted in 1914. Winning candidates were the Socialists and Frank B. Hale, Democrat, and David S. Slane and Dr. O. B. Kneisley, Republicans, all running as Independents, but not opposing the commission charter.

While the Socialists polled the highest vote, their totals were not equal to any two combined votes of their rivals. Their vote was the smallest polled in the Dayton primary for two elections.

Bitter Fight In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN—Fred J. Warner, present incumbent, was renominated for mayor at the Republican primaries here yesterday against Gus A. Doeright, after a bitter fight during which several administration officials were indicted on charges of bribery and fraud. Democrats, who had no candidate, wrote in the name of Fred A. Kuhns, former safety service director. Little interest was shown in the proposal for a charter form of government, and it was defeated by 2,400 votes. Indignations at that bond work, totaling $500,000 all failed.

FOR CITY COMMISSION

HEAVY VOTE IN ALLIANCE

ALLIANCE—Norman S. Link (R) defeated Mayor C. S. Westover (R) for re-nomination on a vote of 213. The largest vote in several years was polled. A feature was the nomination of Miss Louise E. Strong on the Republican ticket for the city treasurer. T. H. Nichols was nominated for Democratic candidate for mayor.

Woman Beats Male Candidates

CARUSO WILL READ IN COURT
NAPLES, August 10.—The will of the late Enrico Caruso was read in court today before Mrs. Caruso, Giovanni Caruso, his brother, and one of the singer's sons. It was an instrument written in 1919, and although it was his last will it did not mention Caruso's wife and daughter. According to Italian law they must receive the greater part of the estate. Only the remainder, after they have been provided for, will be at the disposal of the testator.

BASIL KING'S EARTHBOUND

Directed by T. Hayes Hunter

Tonight is positively your last chance to see Goldwyn's Great Production "Earthbound" at the Eastland Theatre. The picture that has made a veritable sensation the last two days—Also Tonight Only—A Series of dances by Local Children—Pupils of Miss Dorothy Englebrecht.

PROGRAM
A—The Eastland Weekly News.
B—A Dance Divertissement by local children—pupils of Miss Dorothy Englebrecht.
C—"Three Jokers," A new Christie Comedy.
D—Overture—"The Golden Sceptre"
E—Eastland Orchestra—Win. Spitzer, Director.
F—Goldwyn presents "Earthbound," A Drama in 5 Acts.

Two men built their lives on this creed: "No God—no Sin—no Future Life."
It flung one headlong into the future he scoffed at. It put the other on trial for his life.
Then the murdered man came back from his world of shadows. Back to his wife and the woman who had invited him to sin.
Passion still held him to the scenes of his transgression. Even in death he could not escape. He was earth-bound!

How far away are the dead? Is the spirit held to earth by its desires? Is there growth and progression—even after the shadowy barrier has been crossed?
Men and women everywhere, stirred by intense personal feeling, have been asking—"Does the personality change with death? How long do the old interests go on?"

Also Vitaphone comedy

STONE REACHED CREST
CALGARY, Alberta, Aug. 10.—Proof that Dr. W. E. Stone, former president of Purdue university reached the summit of Mount Elmore, an achievement hitherto unaccomplished, a monument before he fell to his death has been found by the party which recovered his body, declared a dispatch from Banff received last night by the Calgary Herald.

The party, which included guides and amateur mountaineers, climbed a small cluster of stones to reach the achievement before they left for Fair Chair camp with the body.

FIRE IN TRUCK BODY PLANT
TOLEDO—Firemen, hampered by dense clouds of smoke battled for more than two hours in extinguishing a blaze in the May Truck Body Company's plant on South St. Clair street late last night. The fire, believed by firemen to be caused by spilled gas from the factory and caused damages estimated at $25,000.

PROGRAM

A—Schnick New
B—Larry Semon in "School Days,"
C—Orchestral Prelude to "Extravagance."
D—Metro presents Mae Allison in "Extravagance."

In "Extravagance" the Metro special picture which comes to the Eastland Theatre tomorrow for a run of three days critics agree that Mae Allison, the lovely screen star has a vehicle fitting her consummately. The pictures has met with one reception—that of unqualified favor.

"Extravagance" is a picture with an universal interest, limiting a woman who ruthlessly demanded the world's best things, while her husband slaved to earn a livelihood; it has a scope and appeal far exceeding anything this blonde star has essayed in the past.

Dick Vane, a young lawyer, marries Nancy Brown, a girl burdened with expensive tastes and social aspirations and who cannot resist the suggestion of a Mrs. Van Ruyter to help her sell into society. To do this, an expensive home and gowns must be purchased. It ends in the young husband acquiescing, and finding means to meet the bills by forging a check on his father's name.

When the misdeed is discovered, the furious father tells his son he must pay the price or go to jail. Nancy is denounced as the cause of his son's ruin. She is asked to show her love by leaving Dick forever. The tremendous climax comes with her decision, and the denouement brings a closer understanding of mutual help and a new life.

BURIAL OF BODY
COLUMBUS—Judge Henry C. Scarlett, settling a dispute between father and mother in which the latter's place of their soldier son was at issue, ruled that the body of Louis V. McKers, company I, 166th Infantry, killed in action at Chateau Thierry, shall be buried in Greenwald cemetery and that the father shall pay the funeral expenses.

THE MARKETS
NEW YORK STOCKS
NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The stock market started in the same spiritless fashion that has distinguished it of late, with the trend lower. Oils were affected by the cut in prices of the product, Atlantic Gulf by its poor annual statement and railroads on the large indicated shrinkage in crop yields.
Studebaker, Chandler Motors, Atlantic Gulf, Mexican Petroleum, House-ton Oil, General Asphalt and Baldwin
Locomotive fell 1 to 1 1/2 with Reading,
Northern Pacific, American Sunatra
Tobacco and American Car losing one half point.
Prices broke with some severity in the later dealing, Mexican Petroleum and New York Ship Building losing about four points. Prices having recently demonstrated their inability to rise, traders sold the general list freely, the possibilities of the bear side being more promising for the moment.
Equipments, motors, shipments, steels sugars and railroad stocks showed little support. General Electric dropped two points to a new low level for the year and South Porto Rico Sugar five points. Losses of 1 to 1 1/2 points were well distributed throughout the list.
Foreign exchange rates were steady and call money held at six per cent.
With government announcing that $10,000,000 would be withdrawn from loan institutions tomorrow.
The closing was weak.
Persistence of quiet liquidation and bear selling here prompted by various unfavorable economic developments depressed prices in today's market from 1 to 5 points. Sales approximated
$75,000,000 shares.

Auto Players Anticipate Strenuous Week At Big Fair; Duplicate Cars Are Here

The teams which are at the County Fair at Lucasville this week to put on the auto polo games, not only brought a large supply of repair parts, for the game abounds in wrecks which will demolish gear, or so cripple it that it goes out of commission. Extra wheels, tires, steering wheels, and other exposed parts which are more readily smashed are carried by the teams in generous quantities. In addition to the cars, the players themselves frequently have to be repaired, and first aid kits are a part of the equipment, for spills are numerous as the cars drive and dart over the field, smashing blow with the mallet in the mallet men riding on the running other hand.

A WHOLESOME PRACTICE

FIGURING is interesting and it is also most instructive, if we use it in the American sense, to consider, to ponder, upon, with a view of determining what there is in a proposition. Here's a friend of our's who has just been figuring, arithmetically and not analytically, upon two statements he had seen in the papers—the first, in a Wall street journal, that Henry Ford clears $189 on every Model T Nanny he turns out; and the other in The Times, that his plant is turning out a car every six and a half seconds. So he informs us Henry Ford makes over a million dollars every day.

That's interesting, even when one has been so used to writing in billion taxes, that the Republican administration will soon cease offering a prospect of reduction on, but it isn't instructive, it is only assuming facts and deal loosely with figures. If Henry Ford were to make $89 on every car he turns out; if he were turning out a car every six and one-half seconds, his clear profit would be $2,522,244.70 a day, since his plants run twenty-four hours a day. His profits for a year would be eight hundred million dollars.

Utterly improbable. It would mean three hundred percent profit on the total Ford investments. Sifted down it would mean a car could be manufactured for considerably less than nothing, because to get the $189 clear Mr. Ford would have to pay the government excess profit-tax and that would mean a gross charge of $472.25 against each machine, but the vast bulk of them sell at the factory for $415.00, many for $370 and some down to $345.

Quite as preposterous is the assumption that the Ford factory turns out a completed car every six and a half seconds. May be one has been made in that time, but the rate is not maintained. The factory expected to turn out in June, as its record production, 130,000 cars, 5,000 a day. This is a material difference between that and one every six and a half seconds, which would total 13,292 a day, or 345,592 for the 26 day period.

Mr. Ford is reputed to have said his ambition is to turn out a million cars a year. He will be nearer that goal this year than he has ever been, but he will be a matter of hundreds of thousands behind.

It can be taken he is doing some real figuring, using the real facts and not taking the guess of somebody else for basis.

THE USUAL FATE IMPENDS

THE English public is turning to the belief that the days of Lloyd George as the political head of the government are hastening to an end.

It was ever thus. Four years ago Lloyd George was acclaimed one of the greatest men the British empire had ever produced. He rode on the high tide of popularity because the empire was intensely concerned only one way and the consummate leadership of Lloyd George was leading it to success. His enemies and opponents could not attack him without subjecting themselves to the accusation of being hostile to the government when it needed the full service of all, could not assail him without, in a manner being traitors to the government.

Now the imminence of the peril has passed, politics have resumed their normal course and selfishness and ambition are no longer under cuff and manacle. They are set free and are all the more virulent because of enforced restraint. Lloyd George finds his ministry confronted with many conditions and problems that are grave and vexing in solution. Counter views and interests are developing out of these and no matter which way the ministry moves it encounters opposition and makes enemies. Chiefly these center against the head thereof and the number of those who clamor for the overthrow of Lloyd George increases from day to day.

In the face of profound industrial disorders, the prevalence of dull times and the fury of the Irish struggle masterly abilities displayed in the nation's crisis lose their potency and the issue becomes not what service was rendered in the war, but what is being done now and how it affects the particular individual and interest. Winning a war, where the people's mind is as one and the resources are sufficient, is a comparatively easy task compared with lifting up a country into the old and orderly ways of peace, different entirely because, in the first instance, all help while in the second, many, growing in time into a majority, pull back.

It is the law that those who rise by the popular will shall, in time fall by that same will. Strong man that he is there is no reason to believe Lloyd George will prove an exception to the rule. And England may well be sorry for that.

AN OPEN QUESTION

CARUSO, the great Italian opera singer, died, last week, and there was a regular tumult of praise and expressed sorrow over his untimely end.

According to the newspaper expressions the whole world was plunged in sorrow. We wonder how much of that came from genuine sympathy, or the proneness to exaggeration, a common practice of playing a big thing up? Caruso was, according to critics, one of the finest singers that ever warbled a note. Some thousands of people knew him, in a passing way, by having heard him sing in the flesh, millions had a tenuous acquaintance with him by having heard his voice through mechanical production. In other words they paid from $15 down to $1.50 to participate in the pleasure of his art, but not much over a month ago near a hundred thousand men and women paid from $5 to $50 apiece to sit in broiling sun, beating down on an open amphitheatre to see two rude mortals hammer each other until one was knocked into unconsciousness. Then they arose and cheered the victor lustily. Caruso never had more than 5,000 daintily applaud him at one time.

Which measures the standard of the people, money or just talk?

Uncle Sam's Buying And Selling

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 10.—One of the big steps in the movement for governmental economy was taken when the executive order was issued recently shutting down on sales of surplus supplies by all government departments and putting the disposition and exchange of these supplies under the direction of General Dawes, new chief of the Bureau of the Budget.

This step put a stop to an old system through which the government has lost money for many decades, the amounts running tremendously high since the expansion of the government machine made necessary during the World War.

It is impossible to get together all of the figures to show how great the loss has been to the government, and therefore to the American people, because each government department has handled its own sales in getting rid of property acquired during the war and at other times for which it now has no use.

Officials who studied the old system before the new one was put in to supplant it say that no one man or group of men is to blame for the old wastes. It was simply the fault of the system, they insist.

Transfers of property from one department to another were not unheard of during the days of the old system, but usually it was accompanied by haggling and difficulties which would make it appear that two departments of the government, instead of being important cogs in the same tremendous machine, were rival and competing private organizations.

Very many times, when one department was selling or auctioning supplies in the open market at low prices, and another department had need of just those supplies, the selling department would refuse to make the buying department as good a price as it gave private purchasers. The department seeking the goods would point out that private individuals and firms were allowed to have the supplies at a low figure. The selling department would counter by pointing out that it was impossible to secure the needed supplies in the open market at any such price.

Hundreds and hundreds of instances of this and other kinds were uncovered in the investigation which led to the issuance of the executive order putting sales and transfers under one executive order, worked out by General Dawes and his assistants, divides the country according to the nine army corps areas. The man in charge of sales and transfers of supplies from one department or bureau of the government to another is known as a co-ordinator, one being provided for each of the corps areas. There is a chief co-ordinator also. This system will remain in effect unless a better one can be worked out and provided by legislative enactment.

The Army Not In Control

General Dawes is particularly anxious to prevent the impression gaining ground that because the system is laid down along the geographical lines of the army organizations, the army will have any kind of control over the work of the co-ordinator or the supply division generally. The corps areas were taken merely for the sake of the convenient division of the country, and no department will have a greater interest or influence in this work than any other.

One of the important duties of the co-ordinators is to fix prices at which supplies shall be transferred from one department to another. The old system of haggling and attempting to hold up other departments is abolished. The co-ordinator has the dual word in fixing a fair figure for the transfer of property, and there is no appeal from his decision.

General Dawes and his staff are particularly anxious not to appear to be criticizing the officials of any portion of the government. For that reason General Dawes believes it would be unwise and create bad feeling when what he most seeks is co-operation, to set forth any of the instances which occurred by the hundreds which forced the change in system as a step toward economical running of the government machine. However, many of these have come to light.

One waste under the old system was the duplication of effort on the part of many of the departments. Representative Press, of Ohio, once pointed out in the house that in many cases a dozen bureaus of the government were duplicating work, and that under the old system congress is called upon to appropriate money ten or twelve times over for the same work where it is thus performed in these dozen different places. The budget system will remedy this among many other evils when the first budget is presented to congress.

A Film Film-Flam
A recent instance is known of where one branch of the government desired to obtain a quantity of moving picture film. As the old system provided no means of this department's knowing that another department, right here in Washington, had a surplus stock of film and that an exchange might be effected, the department seeking the film went into the open market for it. A private individual discovering the excess supply in one department and the need for film in the other, bought the film in his own name and sold it back to the other branch of the government, making a comfortable profit for himself which was, of course, a dead loss to the government. Under the new system, a co-ordinator would have fixed a fair price for the film, and the transfer would have been made directly from one department to the other without any delays and bawling over the amount of funds to be transferred as a consideration for the film supply.

Probably the greatest loss in the matter of sale of supplies is chargeable to the war department. It was almost inevitable that the war department should be overstocked with foodstuffs at the end of hostilities and after the American Expeditionary Forces were returned to this country and demobilized. Every one is familiar with the manner in which the war department disposed of its excess supplies, and many families benefited through the purchase of canned goods and other surplus stock at very low prices.

War department supplies also included vast quantities of blankets, textiles of all sorts, automobiles, and almost everything else. Thousands and thousands of dollars worth of this material were sold to any purchaser for fractional parts of their real value. The old baggage arose of the department having the surplus stock demanding much higher prices from other departments which needed them than were demanded in open sales to the public.

While all of this was going on the Shipping Board, for one example, was buying food supplies for the crews of its ships, in the open market. There is no doubt that much of the old war department stock purchased by private individuals for a song was resold to the other branch of the government, the Shipping Board, at prices which were reasonable enough, but represented a handsome profit to the individuals who bought up quantities of war department surplus stock for this sort of thing is impossible now.

Each department is to have a director of purchases and a director of sales, both of whom will keep in close touch with the chief co-ordinator. Copies of the surplus property reports of each department are to be furnished to the chief co-ordinator.

General Dawes has emphasized that the new agency for the sale and exchange of government supplies is entirely independent of all other departments of the government, just as is his Budget Bureau.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Two years or so ago his Papa put the young man's name in electric lights on Broadway as a producer. The boy became intoxicated by the flaming, bubbling electrical heralding of fame. He took the signs seriously and believed himself great. That began a series of droveries that has kept the White Way amused despite a dull season.

The young impresario one day appeared with a trick ministerial collar in a belated but he so convulsed people along the street that he rushed home smothered with mortification. He burned incense in his office where he sat behind plush curtains with chimes tinkling now and then in the office. One may pose on Broadway—if one has ability. But if one happens to be mediocre, posing brings only unrestrained gaffaws.

So the young man decided to drop dictation and become a rough, uncouth old troglodyte. He thundered commands and pounded his desk. He had a press agent invent stories of his terrible temper and brutal exterior, underneath which, of course, lay the big, kindly pulsating heart of genius. To carry out the idea he began to quarrel wherever he went. Twice he was given what is technically known as the "hum's" rush. But he went on his scowling way. At a party not long ago he glowered in a corner. Then he picked a quarrel with a frail looking young producer. He didn't know this man was once a light weight boxer and had spent his life among East Side pugs.

The producer tried to josh him into good humor but when he became abusive before ladies the producer grabbed him by the back of the trousers and gently deposited him over a porch railing. Then he went out and rubbed his face in the dirt until the lad begged for mercy. Shortly afterward the boy sat in a big room, grimy and disheveled. The producer came in and picking a marshmallow out of a nearby dish he put it in the boy's mouth.

"Take that," he thundered, "you great big bulking brute!"

Midnight bathing parties at Madison Square have supplanted the midnight meal at Columbus Circle Child's. All the chorines and the boys who trail in their wake flock there. One may see the beauties of the New York stage in silken suits. Dainty luncheons are served and there is music for dancing. The great pool at Madison Square was built by Tex Rickard and Miss Betty Williams, a stage beauty, acts as hostess and instructor. Miss Williams has all the grace of Aunette Kellerman.

The people of the stage who have been fortunate enough to purchase homes with their earnings are facing a real test of hospitality this slack season. Most of the homes are at Great Neck, L. I. One comedian has had 24 guests who are out of work and they stay on and on. Nearly every home has a half dozen or more house guests. Last week one actress mortgaged her home. "I had to do it to have money to buy food for my guests," she said. And she added: "I am mighty glad to be able to do it."

Drinking parties in private boxes at theatres have caused one producer to have the following signs placed at the entrance of the boxes: "It is against the law to bring flasks of liquor into this box. Those who do so run the risk of heavy fines and imprisonment."

The End of A Drouth

For weeks no rain has fallen. The fields are turning brown. The forest leaves are losing their freshness. The smaller streams have dried up; the larger ones are sluggish, with pools here and there taking on a green tinge. Vegetables are withering; the sweet corn is no longer succulent; the berries are not worth picking; farmers are hauling water for their stock; wells are low or gone dry; cisterns are exhausted; the doctors in the country go about warning all to hold drinking water lest drench typhoid strike. And the hot sun persists day after day. Clouds form only to disappear. All signs of rain fail.

At last there comes a willing heat. About noon there is a little thunder storm. It lasts hardly ten minutes. The clouds break and the sun comes out with intense heat. Disappointment is everywhere. But in an hour or two clouds come again and a quiet atmosphere. At dusk a breeze springs up. An hour later a heavy storm breaks. There is a downpour for a hour. A hill comes as people retire for the night, grateful for even an hour's rain. Soon it begins to rain again gently at first, then in a deluge followed by a brief intermission, after which comes a steady, hard rain that lasts all through the night.

The people arise in the morning to view a new and refreshed world. The cisterns are full, the creeks are booming, the wells are rapidly taking in filtered water. All vegetation has turned to a deep green. The rain continues fitfully during the forenoon. News comes that the rain has been general. The fall pastures take on new life, and men go about their tasks happy that the long drouth has been broken.

Sweet Potato Products

The sweet potato, soon to be taken from sandy soil and prepared for the dinner table, has remarkable by-products, a writer in the Dearborn Independent tells us. Most of us are content with its pleasant contact with the palate, and have never thought of any other use for it than that afforded by plain sweet potato.

But the chemist has another story to tell. By his processes he can take a wagon load of sweet potatoes and extract from them four kinds of flour, syrup, vinegar, shoeblackening, library paste, starch, four kinds of breakfast food, ink, two grades of "coffee," two grades of tannin, a food for stock molasses, fourteen kinds of wood fillers, between forty and fifty dyes from orange to black, and rubber.

When your first plate of new sweet potatoes is on your table you are going to eat a substance that yields many useful things—thanks to the magic of chemistry.

The Hot Williams Tongue

The quality of former Controller of the Currency Williams is not to be denied. It reveals itself in his utterances. Recently he testified to the use of huge sums for speculation through the favoritism of the Federal Reserve officials in 1919, when money counted in Wall Street.

One bank in New York City, he said, got $130,000,000 from the Federal Reserve "for use in speculative operations and promotions." Then he added: "The Reserve Board has always loaned largely and at low rates of interest to certain New York institutions, and maintained the practice in good times and hard times alike, when the board was forcing liquidation at immense sacrifices to borrowers in Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas districts."

The personal touch which Mr. Williams seldom fails to give to his remarks was not wanting on this occasion, for he charged that one bank borrowed $10,000,000 in Liberty Bonds, redemitted it with the Reserve System, "then lending the money to its president for speculative operations."

Toronto landlords are charging prospective tenants $2 to look over residences. We approve the charge provided the fees are immediately turned over to the occupants of the properties inspected.

The meeting consisted of demonstrations in class and regimental meetings of uniform rank.

Bacon and Omelette

Two women were chatting about a play they had seen the day before.

"Funny chap, that Shakespeare," said one. "Can't see anything in his plays myself."

"Nor can I," said the other. "And I'm told he didn't even write them himself."

"Who did, then?"

"A man called Bacon."

"Well, that sounds more likely," came the reply, "for only a chap called Bacon would dream of naming his principal character Omelette!"

She Didn't

On the authority of Answers, we have it that Mrs. Bliffkins met Mary Smith, whom she had recommended to a neighbor for a situation. "How are you getting on at your new place?" asked Mrs. Bliffkins.

"Very well, thank you," was the reply.

"I am glad to hear it," remarked Mrs. Bliffkins. "Your employer is a very nice lady, and you cannot do too much for her."

"I don't mean to, ma'am," replied Mary.

A Gentle Hint

"Darling, I am growing old."

Heart Gardens

By Florence Jones Hadley
Hearts are gardens, where we sow
Every day such tiny seeds,
And it rests with you, dear heart,
Whether you reap flowers or weeds.

What we sow that shall we reap,
Seeds of peace or discontent,
Seeds of helpful, kindly deeds,
Seeds of days and hours ill-spent.

Seeds of love and seeds of hate,
Seeds of right and seeds of wrong,
Seeds that we must reap with tears,
Seeds we garner with a song.

Sow the good seeds carefully,
Scatter loving thoughts and deeds,
And the garden of your heart
Will be filled with flowers, not weeds.

Not Very Far Away

The other day a Cleveland man while visiting Cincinnati, had occasion to telephone to Hamilton; and upon asking what was the charge, he was told that it was twenty cents.

"Twenty cents! For that distance! Great Scott! In Cleveland you can telephone to hell for twenty cents."

"Possibly," coolly replied the operator; "but that's because it's so close to your city."

Good Shot

A young matron, says Harper's Magazine, was the defendant in a case tried in a Pennsylvania court.

"It is understood," said the district attorney, "that during the absence of your husband you shot a burglar."

"Or did," the young woman admitted. "What became of him?"

"The other burglar took him away."

"The other burglar?"

"Yes, sir; the one I shot at."

A Fair Proposition

"Madam," said Dust Rhodes politely, "could you entertain a proposition?"

"I could," answered the firm lady, pointing to the rug on the clothesline. "Either beat that or beat it!"—Waterbury Republican.
